

No God....No Problem????

Dear readers;

I'll tell you this: Lucifer may be many things; but he is no fool. You can bet on that. Please take a good look at this 'holiday' image in the outline and notice how he uses the wonderful and powerful concept of diversity to get his message across. Added to this, each person has a warm Hollywood smile on top of that!! Needless to say, you would really have to be on your toes not to at least initially accept this as a good message!

I'm fortunately old and wise enough to realize that when it comes to people; you really never know! Perhaps these individuals were unaware that their pictures were going into this awful Lucifer-inspired message, perhaps they were all too glad to do it! We do not know. However, what I am absolutely certain about is that this world is on the express train heading south.....and picking up steam..... with Lucifer as the engineer!

In my play The PIT: The Road to Salvation, I make the claim that when GOD decided to boot Lucifer from Heaven, he, Lucifer, convinced about a third of the angels to join him in his decent; those creatures whom we today call demons. But there is more. I've added this one important additional fact. The distance down that Lucifer must and will travel is infinite, and therefore he is STILL FALLING!!!

Do not let him grab you along the way as he continues to descend!!

With sophisticated tricks like this image, he can indeed succeed! I say be very careful and hang onto GOD'S grace as if your life depended on it.....because it does!!!
